ROOSEVELT IS OFF TO CHICAGO

The second Tennessee district was settled by the national committee without a roll call, Roosevelt men voting "no."

A motion to seat the Roosevelt delegates was defeated.

Texas Tomorrow. Under a provisional agreement reached by Republican national committee members, the hearings on the Texas contests were put over until tomorrow. It is expected to argue the Washington contests late today if they can be reached.

The postponement of the Texas hearings was requested by the Taft attorneys who asked for further time in which to prepare their case.

First Fight Over Oklahoma. A flat fight between Grant Victor, United States marshal for the eastern district of Oklahoma, a Taft supporter, and L. G. Disney and Patrick Dore, of Westville, Okla., Roosevelt adherents, took place outside the rooms of the national committee, just after the hearing in the third Oklahoma district contest.

Scores of politicians and spectators who had gathered at the entrance of the committee room to await results of decisions, witnessed the conflict and several men aided detectives in separating the combatants.

In the committee room previously, Francis J. Heney had asked that Victor, holding the proxy of T. A. Marlow of Montana, be excluded from voting on the case because of his personal interest in it. The suggestion was not put to a vote, Victor, however, refused.

Loud remarks were made about the Oklahoma case, Disney and Dore upholding the claims of the Roosevelt faction. It was then, according to Disney, that Victor struck at him. Dore rushed into the fray and Victor was put on the defensive.

By this time detectives took a hand and with the aid of Mr. Dick and other spectators separated the men who were not arrested.

Pointing to Window of Party. Delegates to the Republican national convention, in anticipation of the coming to Chicago, of Col. Roosevelt, a history making episode in American politics, today went back to the first nomination of Abraham Lincoln in 1860, in efforts to find a parallel for the fight waged here.

Roosevelt men, kept at a high pitch by frequent conferences and mass meetings in which their leaders attacked the action of the national committee with bitterness, pointed to the death of the old Whig party as their theory of what may happen in Chicago next week.

Taft leaders, declaring that the action of the national committee in seating the Roosevelt delegates from Missouri was indicative of its fairness, laughed at the predictions of Col. Roosevelt's followers and the continued talk of a bolt.

Taft Will Lack in End. The Roosevelt managers today announced that if all the remaining contests before the national committee are decided in favor of president Taft he will lack 14 votes of the number necessary to nominate. These figures and others compiled at both Taft and Roosevelt headquarters brought the situation down to a point where discussion of a deadlock and a possible "dark horse" candidate loomed large.

Col. Roosevelt's leaders further declared that as the situation now stands the Taft forces actually count less than 10 votes in their favor. They insisted that yesterday's developments in seating Roosevelt delegates from Missouri left the president 11 short of a bare majority on the temporary roll.

Fight for Uninstructed Delegates. The fight for the uninstructed delegates, the southern delegates and the 26 La Follette delegates from Wisconsin and North Dakota today became intense. Every possible argument is being used by the campaign managers on both sides to get the advantage in these quarters.

The Roosevelt men directed a concerted effort toward the southern delegates in attempting to make them believe that they would represent an absolutely certain majority against president Taft's side, both as to the nomination and matters pertaining to organization of the convention.

La Follette Delegation Looms Large.

As a result of the tightening of the Taft-Roosevelt lines the La Follette delegation looms larger than ever as a strategic force and in the calculations of the managers of the other companies it ranks a close second to the southern and uninstructed vote in the convention.

It was pointed out that if president Taft is not in absolute control of the convention from start to finish, La Follette will hold a balance of power. The question of debate among leaders was whether or not this possible balance would be used. Roosevelt leaders frankly expected the aid of the La Follette strength in a combination to defeat United States senator Ellihu Root as temporary chairman. This and the Roosevelt forces have suggested that they would be willing to support any candidate for the temporary chairmanship that the La Follette followers might choose.

Walter L. Houser, senator La Follette's campaign manager, today, however, declared that he had no intention of effect that the La Follette delegation would positively avoid all combinations of any character with any other candidate. Mr. Houser declared that the La Follette organization is looking ahead only to the senator's political future and the success of the policies which he has advocated in his fight through the various state primaries.

Figures Taft 574 Votes.

William Barnes, jr., of New York, in calculations tabulated personally, announced that president Taft would have 574 votes on the temporary roll call of the convention. The figures were found correct when the national committee completes the hearing of contests tomorrow, the president would have a majority on paper exactly 70 votes over the combined opposition.

When the situation affecting the possible winning of Taft delegates to the Roosevelt side was discussed, the Taft leaders insisted that even heroic efforts to that end would be futile, in the face of the president's strength on paper. They pointed out that from their figures Roosevelt would have only 155 votes, that it would be necessary to capture 56 southern delegates to get control of the convention out of the hands of the president's supporters and that then it would be necessary to get 46 delegates more, the number instructed for La Follette and Cummins, in order to nominate Col. Roosevelt.

Many of the Roosevelt adherents concede the improbability of the nomination of former president Roosevelt on the first ballot, but at the same time say president Taft cannot muster enough votes to adopt the report of the committee on credentials. Here is the point where they claim the Taft ship will go on the rocks. The credentials committee, it is admitted by many, will be similar to the national committee.

Interest Centers in Root. Principal interest today centered in the coming of senator Root, the work of the national committee in the contest for the presidency, and the important addresses by leaders on both sides at various meetings of delegates. There was an influx of Iowa leaders today and an air of excitement at the headquarters of senator Cummins.

It was reported that the Taft leaders had abandoned the idea of asking the convention to pass a resolution compelling delegates to obey instructions until released by the candidates. Many of the Taft people thought this plan, which was said to have been suggested by Powell Clayton, of Arkansas, would eventually bring their delegates from the southern states, six from Ohio, eight from Pennsylvania and five from Maryland.

The Taft leaders insisted that their candidate will be in as good a position to make an open fight for votes on the floor, as Roosevelt, providing there is no choice on the first ballot.

Some Contests Easy. Of the contests confronting the committee when it convened today, those from North Carolina, South Carolina and Oklahoma took but little time. In the remaining North Carolina district, fourth, the contest involved local issues and no question existed as to Col. Roosevelt's title to the two delegates.

In the first South Carolina district the Taft forces claimed that the Roosevelt men had a solid majority, those delegates claiming to have been regularly and legally elected. In the third Oklahoma district the Roosevelt forces secured the election of their delegates, numbered and refused to go to the hall where the convention was called to meet elsewhere.

The Taft delegates, on the other hand, claimed they controlled and organized the third district convention and that the Roosevelt wing then bolted. In the Tennessee contests, embracing the first, second, ninth and 10th districts, bitter local fights were involved. The delegations from the Memphis, or 10th district, were both for Taft or at least neither was claimed by the Roosevelt forces. In the first and second districts local political issues were said to have resulted in the organization of separate conventions.

Texas Involves Hard Fight. The Texas cases involve probably the hardest fight the committee has. The Roosevelt delegations from that state are all championed by Cecil Lyon, national committeeman, and one of Col. Roosevelt's most ardent supporters in the south. The delegations represent, on the other hand, the organization perfected by H. P. McGregor, of Houston, to unseat G. C. Lyon and end his power in the state.

Rival state conventions and rival county conventions were held in Texas and their actions before the national committee. The Taft forces claim to have proceeded regularly to hold district conventions, after the state committee, under Col. Lyon's domination, had refused to call such a convention. The Lyon-Roosevelt forces, on the other hand, claim not only to have held the state convention, but to have observed also the state primary law. The Roosevelt district delegations were charged that it was claimed, first by the state convention and later by district conventions in their respective districts.

HEADQUARTERS AT BALTIMORE OPENED

Chairman Mack Says Temporary Chairman Is to Be Selected Later.

Baltimore, Md., June 14.—National chairman Mack came to Baltimore last night and, after opening the headquarters of the Democratic national committee at the Belvidere, made an inspection of the convention hall.

Chairman Mack said the temporary chairmanship was still unsettled. He added:

"We have talked about Judge Parker, senator O'Connor, Ollie James, senator Kern and others for temporary presiding officer and that is as far as we have got."

"What about the presidential candidates?" was asked.

"I can say there will be no serious conferences on the presidential preference until after the Chicago convention," replied chairman Mack, who added that the principal plank in the Baltimore platform would be the tariff, the high cost of living and the trusts.

CALIFORNIA ROOSEVELT DELEGATES ENTER PROTEST Gallup, N. M., June 13.—Declaring that the seating of two delegates from the fourth California district by the Republican national committee was a deliberate assault upon the whole system of direct presidential preference primaries, members of the California state delegation to the Republican national convention at Chicago today went to their indignation by adopting resolutions calling upon the delegates from other states to join them in a national protest. The resolutions aver, in simply whether the Republican party shall be ruled by its members or by 123 outside members of a national committee, a large number of whom have already been repudiated by the states which they profess to represent.

FIGHT PROMISED OVER DELEGATES FROM TEXAS Chicago, Ill., June 13.—A fight promised to center about contests involving delegates from Texas, where the political life of Cecil Lyon, national committeeman, and the strenuous efforts of Roosevelt machine in the state, is at stake.

The Roosevelt managers said no compromise would be considered with regard to Texas. The Taft managers said they would fight for all the contested Texas delegates on the ground that the Lyon organization had chosen its delegates in defiance of the district appointment plan of the Republican national committee.

ROOSEVELT DETERMINES TO GO TO CONVENTION CITY

New York, N. Y., June 13.—Theodore Roosevelt announced this afternoon that he had decided to go to Chicago to lead the fight for the nomination. He will leave New York at 5:30 this afternoon over the New York Central.

Col. Roosevelt said he was going to Chicago in response to the unanimous demand of the Roosevelt delegates.

"Is your decision the result of what you have heard from Chicago today?" the colonel was asked.

"I have heard a good deal," he responded. "All I've got to say," he continued by way of explaining his action, is this: Several delegates have been to see me personally and I have received countless telegrams. The absolutely unanimous demand of the delegates who have already reached Chicago is that I go. They say that the action of the national committee in the California, the Arizona, the Indiana and the Kentucky cases is such as to make the issue absolutely clear as to whether the people have the right to make their nomination or whether a small knot of professional politicians is to be permitted to steal their right from them."

"The Roosevelt delegates demand that I go to Chicago, not as a candidate, but because for the time being I stand as representing the principles for which the rank and file of the Republican party overwhelmingly have decided in the states where they have had the opportunity to express their wishes at the primaries."

Voting States Control Majority of the Electors.

"These states where the rank and file of the Republicans have declared for me and for the principles which I represent, include those casting about two-thirds of the electoral vote that was cast in the last two elections for the Republican candidate for president. In the primary elections in these states, Mr. Taft has obtained between one-seventh and one-eighth of the delegates."

"The delegates who thus represent the people themselves feel that the
